

Red tape, regulations tie up Ellisville Marsh project

Old Colony Memorial Emily Wilcox, GateHouse News Service - June 24, 2009

ELLISVILLE — Mired in red tape, the Friends of Ellisville Marsh have not given up the fight to reopen the channel to save the historic marsh and resurrect the fish and other wildlife populations there.

“The Massachusetts Office of Coastal Zone Management — they have challenged the basic premise the Friends hold dear, that is that this is a working salt marsh and Full Article
